

Your responsibility

- Overall responsibility for international design and development projects with regards to feasibility, conception, planning and implementation in the field of electronic devices and assemblies
- Management of an interdisciplinary project team
- Responsibility for adherence to time and cost budgets
- Overall quality assurance in the project
- Interface coordination between customer and internal departments
- Managing the cooperation of involved partners and suppliers
- Reporting of project progress to the management and customers
- Responsibility for project reporting and project documentation

Job requires

- Higher technical college / university of applied sciences or university degree in electronics, electrical engineering, Mechatronics, technical computer science or manufacturing and automation technology
- Additional education in business economics
- Several years of practical experience in project management, especially with agile project management methods
- Leadership skills
- Independent working style, determination and assertiveness
- Business fluent in German and English, both written and spoken

We offer

- Diversified assignments from different industries and areas in an international company: from industrial electronics to consumer electronics to medical products
- Flexible working hours with a 40-hours week, home office is also possible
- Fair compensation through salary scales and profit sharing
- Financial support for further training and internal development opportunities
- Team spirit and fun at work are important to us, which is why we have a living "you" culture
- Various employee events as well as a wide range of health promotion offers
- Ideas and personal initiative are encouraged (suggestion scheme with financial payout)

Contact

Melanie Ben Chekaya
Human Resources
ESCATEC Switzerland AG
9435 Heerbrugg
jobs@escatec.com
+41 71 556 31 72